ADMISSIONS

New York

U.S. District Court, SDNY

Zach focuses on white collar defense and complex commercial litigation, representing individuals and corporations in high-stakes criminal, civil, and regulatory matters in a wide array of industries. He has participated in, among other things, internal investigations, arbitrations, criminal and civil motion practice, sentencing submissions and arguments, witness preparation for all manner of investigatory interviews and testimony, and civil and criminal discovery.

Zach regularly advises individuals involved in grand jury investigations on issues including subpoena compliance, privilege assertion, and navigation of the complex decisions regarding governmental requests for testimony and interviews.

Before joining LSW, Zach served as a judicial law clerk for Judge Ronnie Abrams in federal trial court in Manhattan, and for Judge Robert D. Sack on the federal appeals court in Manhattan. He was also a litigation associate at Cooley LLP in New York City.

Zach earned his law degree from Georgetown Law, where he served as editor-in-chief of the law review. Prior to obtaining his law degree, Zach earned a Ph.D. in Criminal Justice from CUNY Graduate Center and served as an assistant professor in criminology and criminal justice at Central Connecticut State University. He has published articles on a wide variety of issues in criminal and constitutional law.
